About 7°South

7°South's beautiful venture began with its uniquely designed fly-fishing experiences offered on Alphonse Island in the late 90's.

Located exactly seven degrees south of the equator, this captivating island was the inspiration behind the company's incorporated name in 1999.

7°South has been designing tailor made journeys for guests visiting Seychelles for over two decades since then.

The best of Seychelles

Why Choose 7°South?

Planning an intricate itinerary requires careful attention to detail combined with an active 'bucket list motivated imagination' and a great amount of flexibility.

Focused on sharing the essence of the beautiful Seychelles archipelago and inspire visitor's curiosity from across the globe to such an enchanting spot.

A great part of the company's continued success is credited to its passionate and dynamic multilingual team from diverse cultures, enabling them to better understand our guests' individual need to create ultimate 'live in the moment' stories to take back home.

The Seychelles Islands

A small island nation consisting of 115 islands scattered in the western Indian Ocean.

The islands are segregated into two categories:

Inner islands group: Consisting mainly of granitic islands with lush green mountainous landscape

Outer islands group: The coralline islands are less populated and located further away from the main island, Mahe

There are three official languages: Creole, English and French

An aerial photograph of a tropical beach. The top of the image shows the ocean with gentle waves washing onto a sandy shore. Several palm trees are scattered across the beach, their long shadows cast across the sand. In the lower center, a person is lying on a white lounge chair on the sand. The bottom of the image is dominated by a dense thicket of green tropical vegetation, including more palm trees and other lush plants.
